Alberta College

The Alberta College at Edmonton will shortly enter its eleventh year's work. During the past ten years over four thousand students have studied in the various courses. The college on the University grounds is now under separate control from the older school on First street, and will take care of the more advanced pupils.

The outlook is bright for the coming term—one hundred and thirty students can be accommodated in residence, and nearly all the rooms are already reserved by outside students. A large number of city students have also declared their intention of entering classes in September. The three dates for registration are: Music, September 2nd; Preparatory, September 3rd; and Theology, September 24th.

Anti-Boxing Bill on Way

Los Angeles, Sept. 3.—An anti-boxing bill now being drafted by a committee of the Los Angeles Church Federation, and which it was announced today, would be presented to the voters of the state as an initiative measure, is said to be the most drastic measure of the kind ever proposed in California. It would limit all contests to four rounds, prohibit the charging of admission fees for spectators, and make eight-ounce gloves the lightest that could be used.

The federation met today to plan an active campaign for this measure.

Superintendent Harshaw, of the Medicine Hat-Cranbrook division of the C. P. R., took a run over the line last week end.

Press Association To Gather At Edmonton

Edmonton will have as its guests at the close of next week the members of the Alberta and Eastern British Columbia Press Association, and a gathering of exceptional interest is looked for. This body held its meeting here four years ago, and so successful did it prove that the association took on a new lease of life and has grown steadily in numbers and influence. That the Edmonton convention was the turning point in its history was laid special stress upon in the reports that were presented at Nelson last year, and it is expected that quite as striking results will be secured from the second visit to the Alberta capital.

Extensive preparations have been made for the entertainment of the delegates. At noon on Thursday, Sept. 11, following the first business session, a civic luncheon will be tendered the visitors. In the evening a trip will be made in the afternoon to "City of Edmonton" to Louisa Park, where an open air barbecue will be held. On Sept. 12 there will be a motor drive about the city and a visit to the theatres. At 11:30 p.m. a special train leaves for the Yellowhead Pass. Saturday will be taken up with visits to Tote Janne Cache and Mount Robson, returning to Jasper National park in the evening. Sunday will be spent in the park, with special trips to Lake Patricia and Pyramid lake. Edmonton being reached again on Monday morning.

Mr. W. P. Hinton, general passenger agent of the G.T.P., and Mr. R. C. W. Lett, tourist agent, will accompany the train, and an exceptional opportunity will be given to see the beauties of the new route through the mountains.

The business sessions promise to be of unusual importance and value to all newspapermen. The foremost topic will probably be the proposal to affiliate with the Canadian Press Association. An effort is being made to unify the press associations throughout the Dominion into one large and strong organization. At a meeting of the Western Canada Press Association in Winnipeg early in July it was unanimously decided to fall in with this plan, and that body will be hereafter known as the Canadian Press Association, Manitoba and Saskatchewan division.

It is believed that the Alberta and Eastern British Columbia Association will follow suit, and when once the general scheme is perfected, it will be the means of strengthening the business of newspaper publishing very materially throughout Canada.

On the afternoon of the first day, Mr. John M. Imrie, the secretary of the C.P.A., will explain the proposal in all its bearings.

A severe frost was experienced throughout The Pass on Monday night.

HYMENEAL

Berry-Chatfield Nuptials

Cupid is still busy in this section, and the latest to fall prey to his untiring inducements was Harry B. Berry, of the Blairmore drug store, who on Wednesday afternoon was united in matrimony to Miss E. Chatfield, late of the law office of L. H. Putnam. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. H. Muncester at the home of the bride's parents, Twelfth Avenue, only the immediate relatives and a few friends being present.

After the ceremony, a sumptuous repast was partaken of, and the young couple left by the local for a honeymoon sojourn to western points.

On their return the young couple will take up house on State Street, in a new residence just completed by J. McLaren.

They were the recipients of numerous presents, costly and unique, testifying to the popularity of both the bride and groom.

Cummings-Brooks

A pretty wedding took place at Indian Head, Saskatchewan, last week when Miss Isabella Brooks, of England, was united in matrimony to Robert Cummings, of the Maple Leaf Collieries. The happy couple arrived at Hillcrest on Friday evening and are staying temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Atkinson before taking up their home at Maple Leaf. Bob is receiving hearty congratulations from his large circle of friends at Bellevue and Maple Leaf.

Ostrzenski-Ferber

A marriage ceremony was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Rudd, Maple Leaf, on Monday evening, September 1st, when Miss Charlotte Ferber, of Germany, was united in matrimony to Mr. Emil Ostrzenski, of Bellevue. The bride was assisted by Miss Lena Bogtry, while Adam Likuski acted as best man. Rev. W. H. Irwin officiated.

Polo Tournament at

Cowley Next Week

Polo fans are in for a great treat at Cowley next week, when a big tournament will be held. The opening games will be played on Monday, and the tournament will continue all week.

The management has spent over $8,700 in preparing for the big meet, and the best teams in Western Canada will compete.

The North Fork team was to have held the tournament this year, by right of having won the championship last year. However, they gave way to Cowley, the facilities for a big tournament there being better.

The week's events have been outlined as follows:

Monday, Sept. 8.—First round for Ouler cup.

Tuesday, Sept. 9.—Semi final for Ouler cup; first round for ladies' cup.

Wednesday, Sept. 10.—Final for Ouler cup; first round for ladies' cup.

Thursday, Sept. 11.—North vs. South; semi-final for ladies' cup.

Friday, Sept. 12.—Final, ladies' cup; gymkhana.

Saturday, Sept. 13.—Five leading teams will start for Spokane to

Dance At Sanatorium

An Enjoyable Affair

The most successful dance for the year was held at the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium on Monday night, which was attended by upwards of eighty couples.

Besides the dancing numerous games were indulged in as side-lines and afforded a source of amusement for those whose days of dancing had passed over or whose appetite for pleasure was directed elsewhere than the ball room.

The ball was set rolling at 9:30 and not until 4 a.m. did the gathering disperse. Everyone seemed to make the most of the opportunity for a gay old time.

Mr. Fred Harris and others rendered popular songs at intervals, which added much to the entertainment of the guests.

Among the guests were parties from Pincher Creek, Lundbreck, Barmis, Pasmburg, Hillcrest, Bellevue, Coleman and Fernie, as well as a number from points in eastern Canada and neighboring states, all of whom pronounced the affair the most enjoyable they had ever attended.

Luncheon was served shortly after midnight.

The Pincher Creek orchestra furnished very appreciative music.

Marshall Lost Decision

The boxing bout pulled off in the Fernie arena on Monday night between Dick Marshall, of local fame, and Cyclone Scott, of Vancouver, was pronounced the best ever staged in that town, and from start to finish was a real fight for honors and an exhibition of generalship. Early in the bout both the combatants showed signs of suffering from hardships, but neither faltered until the completion of the schedule at the fifteenth round when the "Cyclone" was awarded the decision on points. Both men were recipients of the hardest usage, but inside of a few days will appear in their normal form.

Marshall is billed to meet Joe Uvanni either at Cranbrook or Fernie on the 29th of the present month, which bout it is expected will attract a large attendance of boxing enthusiasts.

Business Men See Great Cement Plant In Full Operation

Eighty-one business men and others prominent in affairs in this city visited the plant of the Edmonton Portland Cement company at Marlboro on Saturday, and inspected the extensive undertaking which is there in full operation.

The party left the city on Friday evening, returning late on Saturday night. It spent all the forenoon on Saturday going through the plant. The manufacture of the cement was seen from the gathering of its prime components to the bagged finished product.—Edmonton Journal, September 1st.

Mr. C. J. Fegg, who for a number of years was manager of the Rocky Mountain Cement plant in Blairmore, is manager of the plant referred to above.

The population of the earth is increasing faster than its productive capacity. It is being estimated that the world should continue indefinitely to grow food for its inhabitants. It is being estimated that the world should continue indefinitely to grow food for its inhabitants.

Plant life is essential to us as the atmosphere itself. We cannot exist without it. No matter how far we may develop the other forms of human industry we must fall back on farming—agriculture—as the basis and sustenance of all.

The present tendency in all civilized countries is away from the land. The cities grow like golems and the country is deserted and despoiled, except as affording a place for recreation, rest and development of luxurious ways of enjoyment. Because of every effort to increase the productivity of the soil and the extent of it, the cultivation of the soil and the extent of it, the cultivation of the soil and the extent of it.

Everybody knows something of the almost miraculous effects that have been attained in the western part of America in the cultivation of the soil and the extent of it, the cultivation of the soil and the extent of it.

Irrigation, draining and scientific management of the soil and of fertilizers have, in producing a real revolution. And, best of all, this movement has inspired a spreading interest in agriculture as an occupation not only lucrative but honorable, and capable of exercising the finest qualities of human intelligence.

Many a farmer's son has quit the land and plunged into the seductions of the city. But now, the country has begun to weary him on account of its monotony, unprogressiveness and small domestic intelligence.

This will all be changed when he sees that the cultivation of the soil and the extent of it, the cultivation of the soil and the extent of it, the cultivation of the soil and the extent of it.

THE COUNTRY FAIR

Money Spent in Attending Fair Is Well Invested

Year time is again upon us. It is the annual holiday handed down by our forefathers who till the soil and gathered to discover which had been able to wrest the richest fruits from their labor. It is a time of healthy competition and relaxation that every member of the family should be allowed to enjoy. Both the city and the country should attend. Even the most isolated city dweller is but a generation or two away from the sea, as men all filled the city or grazed their herds at one time. Those who can have gotten back to the soil are drifting into the unnatural hothouse city life. There is something for everybody at the fair, whether he is a country pumpkin show or the more cultured and cultivated exhibition and oneself, especially if you take an active part in entering your best farm produce or help in managing or superintending it. The local fair, like the country newspaper, the country schoolhouse and the country church, is a success or failure just to that extent that home folks take active part. Its power for good is incalculable. It is a success or failure just to that extent that home folks take active part. Its power for good is incalculable.

A WARLIKE PRINCE

The Kaiser's Son Starled Berlin With His Book

Something like a sensation was caused in Berlin by the publication of the German Crown Prince of a book entitled "Germany in Arms." The book, which is more reverently dedicated to the German Emperor and the Prussian King, contains the following motto: "The world does not rest more easily on the shoulders of Atlas than does Germany on her army and navy."

The Imperial order asserts that Germany, more than any other, has had to suffer from the armaments, and that as its geographical position is unfavorable, and as all nations do not regard Germany with affection, the country has the sacred duty imposed on it always to maintain its army and navy in a state of readiness. Only in this way, relying on our good sword can we maintain that place in the sun which is ours, but which will not be voluntarily conceded to us.

The Crown Prince goes on to say that diplomacy may delay the conflict for a season; but those in responsible positions must know that once a gigantic conflagration is lighted it is not so easy to extinguish.

Speculating on the thought of riding to an attack, the Prince says that is one of the greatest pleasures—namely, that of being able to protect the land of the gallop and the fight for life and death.

Paris Police Used Hand Cannon

The Paris police department is equipped with what is considered an ancient weapon for use in dislodging criminals who barricaded themselves in houses and defy capture, which is the Paris "hand cannon," a device which has been developed quite extensively. The weapon is a hand cannon, designed for throwing bombs, which when they explode will fill a building or room with suffocating gas, and will also be sufficient to overcome the occupants. Fashion's Whims Cause Lots of Trouble

Wearer Causes Excitement Sent to Asylum

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 29.—Miss Edna Kay, 22 years old, who yesterday caused great excitement as she promenade through the principal thoroughfares of the city dressed in clothes of the latest cut and design, included a slit skirt of the extreme variety, was to lay sent to an asylum. Crowds of old and young men followed and looked as she made her way down Adams street until she was taken in tow by a policeman. She was later turned over to Judge Stone for a hearing. After the hearing she was committed for treatment.

More Man Also Creates Sensation

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 29.—P. Durbin, city trustee of Vernon, appeared before the board of public works in the first pair of "slit trousers" to be introduced into official circles.

"The slit in the trousers runs half way to the knees, and a corresponding slit in the sleeve extends half way to the elbow."

"I intend that Vernon shall have the latest styles," said Durbin. "Slit trousers have come to stay, and within a few years everybody will be wearing them."

Vice Suppression Society Says "No."

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 29.—The invasion of Baltimore by only one wearer of an "X ray" skirt was enough for the Society for the Suppression of Vice. It will petition the board of police commissioners or Marshal Farnum to prevent the wearing of such skirts in Baltimore.

A young woman walked along Howard street in a transparent gown yesterday and was more an attraction than an ordinary circus parade. Having learned of this, John I. Cornish, counsel for the society, decided to explain the necessity of preventing the appearance of such skirts on the streets of this city.

The Recreation Need

Judges, coroners and moral reformers may continue to argue among themselves concerning the best means of stamping out vice and crime, but until normal recreation is made more easily obtainable than undesirable excitement, conditions will remain substantially unchanged.

Bars and poolrooms are crowded because there is nowhere else for the youth of the city to go. Dance halls of indifferent repute are patronized for want of better places. To suppress what is bad without providing something wholesome to take its place is only to drive exuberant youth to secret drinking dens and places of entertainment. All this time the school buildings, which ought to be the centres of social activity, remain closed during the greater part of the year.—Toronto News.

Farmer Takes Mail in 'Barrow'

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 3rd.—Joseph Schwartz, a wealthy farmer of Bocheater, Alta., who asked the assistance of the police of Edmonton some time ago in finding a wife for him, receives his mail in a wheelbarrow these days, and the postmaster of the settlement threatens to strike. The lone farmer has letters from every state in the Union and from all parts of Canada and Europe, the writers being women of all ages. According to the letters, most of the writers are spinsters. They are ready and willing to make a home for Schwartz and live on the farm. Some of them are widows with children, Schwartz is busy generating his crop, but he is devoting several hours every night to reading and classifying the letters, which he will answer when his grain is harvested.

The Telephone Girl

The telephone girl sits still in her chair and listens to voices from everywhere. She knows all the gossip, she knows all the news. She knows who is happy and who is the blues. She knows all our sorrows, she knows all our joys.

She knows all the girls who are "chasing the boys." She knows all our troubles, she knows of our strife. She knows every man who talks mean to his wife. She knows every time we are out with the boys. She knows the excuses that each fellow employs.

If the telephone girl told half that she knows, it would turn all our friends into bit-ter foes; She would sow a little wind that would soon be a gale. Engulf us in trouble and land us in jail.

She would start forth a story which gaining in force, Would cause half our wives to sue for divorce.

She could get all our churches mixed up in a fight, And turn our bright days into sorrowing nights; In fact, she could keep the whole town in a stew.

If she told but one-tenth of the things that she knew, Say, kid, but doesn't it make your head whirl? When you think what you owe to the T. L. home girl!

Printer's Error Makes Europe Laugh Loudly

Paris, Aug. 30.—A story which is pleasing Paris very much just now is the error made by a printer at The Hague at the time of the peace conference just concluded.

The printer received an order for a quantity of posters giving the syllabus of the congress, at the same time that another order arrived for bill-announcing the arrival of a men-gie in town. By an extraordinary mistake the two jobs got mixed up into one. The result was the town was one morning covered with placards running as follows:

"Program of the Universal Peace Congress: A gala representation on each day of 300 animals—cycling and skating bears; impressive groups of lions and tigers—a caravan of trained camels at liberty."

Although a bad impression was produced, the error was repaired as soon as possible. It is understood that a number of inhabitants of The Hague did not appear to take the great pacifist reunion as seriously as it deserves.

Plunge Seventy Feet And Escape Death

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 2.—Four people had a narrow escape from death or serious injury here, when the engine of a motor car, in which they were driving, stopped dead near the crest of a very steep hill on the Cloverleaf road, and tumbling back and forth over the edge of a cliff, plunging 70 feet.

The car was driven by Arthur Plante, who is a world's champion paddler in war canoes and holds the world's quarter mile record for single canoes. Mr. Plante, who was recently married, was accompanied by his wife, her mother, Mrs. Morgan and R. Trepelaar, all of whom recently came here from Ottawa.

When the car stopped, it ran back so quickly that Mr. Plante had no time to apply the emergency brake but had his foot on the other brake and checked the speed of the car as it dashed backwards down hill. He stuck to the steering gear and kept the car going straight. In its descent of the embankment the car struck a big tree and cut another tree in two. Trepelaar jumped before the car got up much speed, but the rest of the occupants stuck to their seats.

Mr. Plante's hand was torn by the branch of a tree, but he still clung to the wheel and probably was the means of saving the lives of himself, wife and mother-in-law. At the bottom of the embankment the car broke through a wire fence and finally came to a standstill on its side in a brook.

It often caused by indigestion and constipation, and quickly disappears when Chamberlain's Tablets are taken. For sale by all dealers.

Austrian Miner Injured

An Austrian miner named Puchta sustained severe injuries to his legs while at work in the Blairmore mine on Thursday afternoon. He was conveyed to the Frank hospital, where it is expected he will be confined for some time.

Blairmore Youth Charged With Theft

A young man, resident of Blairmore, was taken to Macleod on Wednesday, where he awaits trial on the charge of theft.

According to information it appears that a letter containing a sum of money is alleged to have been received by the prisoner from the Blairmore post office. The letter was opened, the money appropriated, and knowing that the letter nor its contents did not belong to him the opened envelope was returned to the post office with the words "opened by mistake" written across the face of it.

Nothing was said about the matter, while in the meantime the facts were being sifted out with the result that suspicion pointed so strongly to the accused as to warrant his arrest.

A preliminary trial was given and the culprit was ordered to be taken to Macleod to await final hearing.

Body of Babe is Mailed

Montreal, Sept. 4.—Trying to ascertain to whom to return a box for the necessary postage, a post office clerk at the central office here opened the package and found a newly-born babe. This case, which is the second in the history of the Montreal post office, is in the hands of the police.

The box, which was of ordinary plain cardboard, about the size of a book box, was wrapped in paper, was addressed to the Maternity hospital, corner of Dorchester and St. Hubert streets, and was without stamps. It was brought in by a mail carrier from one of the drop boxes in the city and sent to the "Dead Letter Office" to be returned for postage.

When the gruesome discovery was made, the detective bureau was notified and Detective Charbonneau was put on the case. Little could be learned, for none of the drivers or collectors could remember the very ordinary looking package, and there is no clue as to the part of the city whence it came.

Professor C. cav. Dicastro, now a resident of Peoria, is desirous of taking charge of the Blairmore band, and if arrangements can be made, the town would have in charge of its musical programmes a man of talent and of skill, being a graduated gold medalist in harmony and counterpoint from the Royal Academy of Music, Naples, Italy. His post graduate work was recognized by King Victor, who conferred upon him the distinguished title of "Cavaliere," headmaster of the 33rd infantry in Italy, conductor of organizations which needs no introduction to those who have kept in touch with his history on this continent.

W. Cole, of the Bellevue poolroom and ice-cream parlor, was caught in the act of dancing the highest, fantastic at the Sanatorium on Monday night.

WHAT A CAT COULD HAVE

They All Guesseed, but Only Little Eva Guesseed Right.

"WHAT is it which a cat and no other animal has?" inquired teacher.

One pupil answered immediately, "Purr."

"Haw, haw!" giggled another pupil, "Kitties and mice have fur."

"I know, teacher," exclaimed No. 3, "whiskers."

"How, haw?" This from No. 2 again.

"Father has whiskers!"

"My pa has!"

"Course he hasn't," retorted No. 2.

"Haw, haw!" Your father's no good! Now, my father—

"Silence!" cried the teacher. "Can't any one tell me what a cat has which no other animal has?"

A little girl timidly held up her hand.

"Well, Eva?" smiled the teacher encouragingly.

"Kittens," replied Eva.

"And the little girl went to the top of the class—No."

Explained.

Down in the Red River valley section of Manitoba there is a planter, a veteran of the civil war, who is noted for his profane vocabulary.

Not long since he married, and everything smiled along nicely for a few days. But the captain was called out early one morning by a negro tenant, who wanted to see him on business.

As soon as the captain saw the darky he began to curse him.

The young wife, hearing the violent language, stuck her head out of the window and asked, "Is that you, darky?"

Before the captain could answer the darky said apologetically, "No, ma'am; dat's Cap'n Johnson."—Judge.

In a New Form.

"My husband," said an American wife to a friend, "has passed the limit."

"What has he done?"

"He was ill last night and made me get a mustard plaster for him, and after I put it on he turned reproachfully and said to me, 'Your mustard plasters do not hurt like those that my mother used to make.'"

—Pathfinder.

Unfair.

"I'm not going to Sunday school again, mother," fretted a small boy, returning from his first experience of this nature.

"Why, dear? Didn't you like it?"

"Oh, I liked part of it well enough, mother, but I don't think they shared fair with me. The teacher took my penny and put it in a bag, but she didn't give me any pennies for it, nor neither!"

—Exchange.

Might Come in Handy.

"Look at that over there! He is a bawling little windfall!"

"What a fine alarm and an encounter of the earth."

"Would you mind writing all that down for me?"

"Why in the world?"

"He's my husband, and I should like to use it on him some time."—Sissy Stories.

Driven to It.

"Seems to me the children do nothing at school now but cut out paper dolls and make mud pies."

"Well, the map of the world is changing daily, so until things are settled they can't study history or geography. These simplified spellers have put spelling up in the air. So what are the children to do?"—Washington Herald.

Felt It.

"The enthusiasm—that is the spring end—can't you feel it?"

"The Philistine—You tell. You can almost see the boys knocking flies and beating groundhogs out of the class."

"I'm just down diamond, can't you?"

—Flick.

The Right Soap For Baby's Skin Is Cuticura Soap

IN the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Not only is it unrivaled in purity and refreshing fragrance, but its gentle emollient properties render it of great value in promoting skin and hair health generally. For the treatment of eczemas, rashes and other itching, burning infantile eruptions, warm baths with Cuticura Soap, followed by gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment are usually effective when other methods fail. Cuticura Soap wears to a wafer, often outlasting several cakes of ordinary soap and making its use most economical.

Outdoors Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. A small cake, with 25-cent booklet on the care and treatment of the skin and scalp, sent post-free. Address: Pearce & Sons, Inc., Dept. 103, Boston, U. S. A.

No Deer Handy.

At an annual series of races "for all comers" the sun was blaring down on a field of hot, excited horses and men, all waiting for a tall, raven-haired beauty to get into line.

The patience of the starter was nearly exhausted, "Bring up that horse!" he shouted. "Bring him up!"

The rider of the refractory beast, a youthful Irishman, yelled back: "I can't. This here's been a cab horse, and he won't start till he hears the door shut, and I ain't got no door."—Ladies' Home Journal.

An Example.

The teacher was hearing the grammar class.

"An abstract noun is the name of something you can think of, but not touch. Now, Philip, can you give me an example?"

Philip looked thoughtful for a moment, then his face brightened.

"Yes, ma'am," he said, "a red-hot poker."—New York Tribune.

Feathered Aid.

There are many farm homes in which far too great a premium is put upon that quality of character which is misnamed industry. The father takes pride in the fact that his boys are everlastingly on the grindstone from dawn to dusk and that they have no time for gadding. He prides himself that they are hard workers. And yet his sons are mere drudges. They may hold the record for a big day's stoking but they know nothing about books or flowers or the relaxation of an idle day with a fishing rod. They pass by, unnoticed, the sunlit rippling and the cool, deep shadows of the farm brook; they never look up to behold the glory of the sunset, they know not the cunning ways of the bee, nor the wonderful world of plant life about their feet; they are just common drudges, working all day long in God's wonderful laboratory, but with eyes that are hidden that they may not see.

We make to plea for mere idling. Pure idleness is always a crime. And frequently it leads to other crimes worse even than itself. But there is no indulgence in an hour poor and then with the children in gathering, naming and admiring the prairie flowers; in an effort to surround the children with beauty; and in word to live in companionship with the farm, regarding it not merely for its pecuniary value, but also for its delightful associations and constant round of interest and of surprise.

There are some families who really own their farms and enjoy it; but there are other families who think they own it but who in reality are owned by it, and have become its slave.

—Nor-West Farmer.

A Marine Misnomer.

It's rather odd that they should call a steamer a tramp.

Why so?

Fancy a tramp needing water to get along on.

Over the Center.

Are those candies for my pretty one? asked the youth with the sunset socks.

"They are fresh, but not in your class," answered the salety with the Titian hair.

Dr. Edward Sanger said in New York:

"We should not announce cures unless they are real cures. A imagination plays too great a part in a patient's feelings."

"Imagination must always be reckoned with medicine—sometimes as a friend, sometimes as a foe."

A doctor who treated an old woman for typhoid, and on each visit he took her temperature by holding his thermometer under his tongue. One day, when she had nearly recovered, the doctor did not bother to take her temperature, but he had hardly got 100 yards from the house when her son called him back.

"What is wrong," said the man. Come back at once.

The doctor returned. On his entry into the sick-room the old woman looked up at him with angry and reproachful eyes.

"Doctor," said, why didn't you give me the finger under 'a tongue today?" That always does me more good than all the reality ever treat."

Seal Sea everywhere, as the great liner could her powerful course over the Atlantic.

Oh, captain, can't you discontinue from a seasick passenger, half reeling in a deck chair, how far we off land."

No answer came to this remark, which had been reiterated several times that day.

Oh captain, do answer me—how far?"

Mile and a half, came the gruff reply.

Thank heaven! In what direction captain?"

A twinkle came for a moment in the eye of the frigate old sea dog. Straight down! he grunted.

Their Aim.

I suppose, said the husband, I vote that you women want to vote just like men do?"

Oh, no, replied his wife, that is not the point. We want to vote a great deal better than the men do."

The Remedy.

She—George dear, here's a scientist who says the earth is wobbling on its axis. What do you suppose they can't do about it?"

George (absent)—Open up the muffer, reverse the lever—shoot of the powder, lubricate the bearings and tighten the wheel cap.

Editor—Why do you persist in coming here? I tell you I don't buy fiction.

Author—Oh, I don't want to say any of my stories. I am writing short serials entitled: "The Uplifted Man on Earth, and came in merely to obtain local color."

Origin of Irish Lace

Irish lace originated from the failure of the potato crop that caused the famine of 1845. The monks of a convent in County Cork, looking about for some lucrative employment, to support the convent and children, attended her school, unrivaled through the threat of a school of point to Milan, and finally mastered the complicated details. She then selected the girls who were quickest of needlework and sent them to the convent where they learned. The new industry prospered, and one of the pupils, in a paragonable bull, declared that if it had not been for the famine we would all have been starved.

Who Was He?

Father, said a boy of twelve, who was Shylock?

What, exclaimed his father, have I sent you to Sunday school for the past six years, only to have you ask me who Shylock was? Shame on you! Get your Bible and find out this minute!

Customer—I want a ton of coal.

Dickens (C)—Excuse me, what size?

Customer—Well, if it's not asking too much, I'd like to have a 2000 pound ton.

His Duty Time.

Doctor, why don't you take a vacation?

I can't now, my patients need me. They are beginning to come back from their vacations.

He—Does your father know I expect to see him for a few days?

She—I think he does. He is practicing for half an hour every morning with dumbbells.

Contest Winners Shortly to be Announced.

Though still engaged in the tremendous task of reading the letters received from nearly 20,000 contestants, the contest committee, conducted by the Remington Literary Committee, the judges are now nearing the completion of their painstaking work and will shortly make an announcement of winners. The general class drew 10,000 votes, and the determining of superior merit in individual cases so difficult, that the committee has decided in addition to the prizes already scheduled, first, second and third medals in each of the four classes of contestants. The awards of these and of the 2,000 other prizes offered will be known by the people who throughout the country, are eagerly awaiting the news.

Odd Uses of Sugar.

If all the sugar that is eaten in the course of a year were to be equally divided, every person in the world would have at least twenty pounds. Besides being used as food, sugar has many industrial uses. It is the cheapest form of a chemical preservative, and is often used in place of starch, dextrin, or glucose. It is also used in the manufacture of explosives, and is a valuable material for removing and preventing boiler scale. It is used in the manufacture of shoe-blackings, and in the copying, and inkrollers for printers. Certain explosives contain from 10 to 20 per cent of sugar. It is employed in dyeing establishments, by tanners for filling leather and in sugar is actually one of the industries. Sugar has a hardening and strengthening action in mortar. The mortar used to rebuild the columns of the Natural History in Berlin consisted of one part lime, one part sand and two parts sugar. It gives a very small quantity, however, even as little as one-quarter of one per cent, exerts a very harmful effect on concrete.

Aluminum Servant of Man.

When the history of our age is written the story of aluminum is going to occupy a prominent page, says the London Weekly. It is a quite wonderful as the story of electricity, the all-pervading giant that has hidden for ages in murky clouds of masses of coal, copper and soft iron, and in myriads of waterfalls, until Franklin first declared that clay and many clayey rocks depended upon some metal as a base.

Life in Macedonia

We arose early one February morning and left our fairly clean hotel in Skopje. The four hours of travel over the modern road near the Via Egnatia, which should take us to ancient Thessalonica, was very comfortable. Our vehicle was a somewhat dilapidated hack, such as Americans are familiar with at almost every station. Our vehicle was very surprisingly comfortable conveyance for this part of the world. Rattling down the steeply paved streets we came to the center of the great Roman aqueduct and ascended another steep street on the other side of the market place.

Early as it was, we found that the people of Skopje were up and doing. The stalls of the fruit men were attractive with oranges, pomegranates, lemons and dates. The vegetable dealers displayed a tempting array of cauliflowers, cabbages, onions, okra, leeks and potatoes.

GREAT BRIDGES

Feats of Great Structures Across the Tay and Forth

Not the least of the extraordinary
feats of the redoubtable bridge-builder, Sir William Arrol, was the fact that at one time he carried on two great gigantic contracts as the Tay
and Forth Bridges. It was a striking tribute to his great powers of organization and to his genius for engineering on a mammoth scale. The construction of the Tay Bridge was only half-finished when he made a start
with the gigantic undertaking which now spans the Forth of Forth, from the designs of Sir John Fowler and Sir Benjamin Baker. Over a year
was spent in the preliminary preparations along the designing and making of special plans, the construction
of workshops on shore and the thousands
of things essential to the success
of such a large scheme. The Tay
temporary plant ran to half-million
sterling, and included a thirty steam
and a dozen barges, tug launches and
boats, sixty steam cranes and winches,
fifty hydraulic cranes, forty-eight
hand cranes, and a host of other hand-engines and drills. The machines alone amounted to more than one million cubic feet of timber
and sixty miles of wire. The enormous
nature of this engineering
wonder of the world was gathered
from the following figures: The total weight of the bridge was about a third of a million tons; two spans of
six hundred and seventy-five feet each.
In the piers there are about one hundred and twenty thousand cubic yards of
masonry, and in the super-structure
over forty thousand tons of steel and
some fifteen thousand tons of iron.

The building of the Tay Bridge was an opportunity for a display of the engineering genius which the ambitious bridge-builder eagerly welcomed.
Rigorous examination revealed the
old foundations to be insecure, and it was decided to build an entirely new bridge a short distance farther up the river. Within five years from its commencement—1892 to 1897—a remarkable feat of engineering was accomplished, and constructed at a cost
of over a million pounds, and a great
span, spanned the estuary, a structure
strong enough to defy the fiercest gale that ever blew. It was the greatest engineering triumph of the age, until it was eclipsed by a great er—the Forth Bridge.

Genius Oil Painter
It is told of Leonardo da Vinci that while still a pupil, before his genius burst into brilliant flame, he was obliged to give up his own work and
one day he da Vinci finish for him
a picture which he began. The young man had such reverence for
his master's skill that he shrank from
the task. The old artist, however,
would not accept any excuse, but persisted in his command, saying simply:
Do your best.

Da Vinci at last tremblingly obeyed
the brush and, kneeling before the master, said the following prayer: It is for the sake of my beloved master
that I implore skill and power for this undertaking. As he proceeded
his hand grew steady, his eye awoke
with slumbering genius. He forgot himself and was filled with enthusiasm for his work.

When the painting was finished the
old master was carried into the studio to pass judgment on the result. His eyes rested on a triumph of art.
Turning his arm around the young
artist, he exclaimed: My son, I paint
no more.

Plan for a Larger Milk Yield
What virtue is there in hereditary richness of milk? Many a dairymaid
notices a cow in good, her betters may do it. That is the trouble? Apart
from such considerations as feed,
care and health, look for one moment
at the possible value of milk. The cow bred to a particular bull
has dropped good milking progeny;
the bull, in turn, has produced good
milk. This is the virtue of hereditary worth thousands of dollars to the dairymaid. The one and the same holly reflection is that scores of these
good milkers can be traced to sires
that have been bred long before
their real value had become known.

Any dairyman who is doing anything at testing his individual cows,
and all progressive dairymen appreciate the value of such a study, know
that it would be worth at least 1,200 pounds of milk extra per cow to secure the right bull. All members of cow testing associations
should co-operate in the purchase of
good pure bred sires, changing them
round after two years in one section,
and prove thereby the immense value
of heredity in their own herds.

Where Cillages Fall
Any fool to benefit the nation
must be a fool of some kind. To enlarge further the scope of agricultural teaching in the high schools or
the university, the Canadian government has decided to do so. Such effort will be the latest talent of the few, who will be the best to do it. The knowledge tends toward self-centering
ends. It is a waste to give more knowledge to a man who is not interested in it. They have already proved themselves
in a developing a conscious citizenship.

The college graduate is not always
the clearest of men. The working man, however, is not always the least intelligent. Expert knowledge
must have, but the expert who has
lost his head is a danger to the community. The soul ballast that streams
of sweat and cord muscles give to the body, the clearness of the mind, the development of both the mental and physical self, a life rounded by experience and contact with actualities.

The Printer Pirates
An installment agent had sold an instantaneous camera in the composing room. The terms were 25 cents down
and 25 cents a week, albums delivered free. The agent, however, was not promptly sold or looked over the album
and declined to pay even the first instalment. The printer, who was last resort decided to complain to the foreman. He came into the office, and the printer, who had been spied him as he entered the composing room.

Boys said the boss printer in a tone loud enough for every one in the room to hear, why are we like pirates?
We all gave it up.
Because, announced the boss, we'll steal the album from the printer who hasn't paid for it.

The album man turned and left
and we saw him no more.

A number of men gathered in the smoking car of a train from Little Rock to another point in Arkansas
were talking of the food best calculated to sustain health.

One Arkansan, a stout, ferid man,
with short, gray hair and a self-satisfied air, was holding forth in great style.

Look at me! he exclaimed. Never had a day's sickness in my life. All due to simple food. Why, gentlemen,
from the time I was twenty when I reached forty I lived a regular life.
None of these effeminate delicacies
for me. No ice cream, no cake, no
summer and winter, I went to bed at 9; got up at 5. Lived principally on corned beef and apples. One time
hard, greens—worked hard from 8 to 11. Then dinner; plain dinner; then a bit of exercise, and that was all.

Excuse me, interrupted the stranger, who had remained silent, but
what were you in for?

A ring at the telephone drew the
office boy.

Lady to talk to you sir, he said to the senior partner.

The senior partner took up the receiver and stood at the phone for several minutes.

Then he laid the receiver down and
went back to his desk.

Twenty minutes later he raised the
receiver, said a few words and presently hung it up.

Then he turned to his partner.
It was my wife, explained she was still talking and hadn't missed me.

The Foolish One—Just wait! She She'll catch her husband snoring some day.

The Wise One—That's how she did
catch him.

WOMEN SING THE PRAISES OF
DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Saskatchewan Lady Adds Her Testimony to What Has Already Been Said of the Great Work Dodd's Kidney Pills are Doing.

Carmarville, Sask. (Special)—The
society of female folk in a new country subjects the women of the prairie
to unusual strain, and careful observation has established the fact that this strain first makes itself felt in the kidneys. For this reason Dodd's Kidney Pills are making an enviable reputation from the Great Lakes to the foothills of the Rockies.

Everywhere you will find women
singing the praises of the great Canadian kidney remedy that has banished their pains and weariness, and brought them back to health. Among the many is Mrs. Edgar Cowen, an amiable lady of this place.

"I have found Dodd's Kidney Pills
very beneficial," Mrs. Cowen states.
"If everything I can say will help any
sufferer I am glad to add my testimony to what has already been said."

The kidneys strain all the refuse material out of the blood. If they are out of order this refuse remains in the blood, and the various organs, which they sound kidneys mean pure blood
and good health. Dodd's Kidney Pills make sound kidneys.

During on Books
It is difficult for one to find on the earth's surface substances that do not tempt the appetite of some sort of animal. The list of substances that do not include the earth, which is munched with satisfaction by the worm and the various birds, which
the Eskimo relishes as much as John Bull his joint of beef.

It is not generally known, however, that men, as well as mice and bookworms have eaten things that have consisted only of books.

In 1370 Bernaldo de Visconti compelled two Papal delegates to eat the bulk of excommunication. The delegates, however, were not
brought him, together with its silken cords and leaden seal. As the bull was written on parchment, and
paper, it was all the more difficult
to digest.

There was also an American general who had signed a note for 2,000
horses, and when it fell due compelled him to eat it. To eat it, he was told, when books fall into their possession, eat them, that they may not be bothered by knowledge.

A Scandinavian writer, the author
of a political book, was compelled to choose between being beheaded or
eating his manuscript boiled in broth.
Isaac Voltaire, who wrote some satires
against Bernard, Duke of Saxony,
was not allowed the courtesy of
being beheaded, but was forced to eat them uncooked.

Another was the fate of Philip Oldenburger, a jurist of great renown
who was condemned not only to eat
a number of his writings, but also
to be dogged during his repast with orders that the flogskin should not be used if he had swallowed the last crumb.

Quotations That are Wrong
Some of the most frequently used
quotations are not quotations at all,
but in many cases convey the opposite of the meaning of the original.
Fenimore Cooper, for instance,
thought he was quoting from the Bible when he spoke of an Indian being
so devoted that he who runs may
read, signifying that it was easier
for him to run than to read.

If Cooper had looked in his Bible
he would have found in the book of Habakkuk that the passage he tried to quote was: Write the vision and make it plain that he may run that readers may not forget. The original indicated the reader was to flee from danger, but the Cooper version has made the original and literally
put it out of use.

A popular chronic misquotation is
the passage in the message to the
which says: He that complies against his will is of the same opinion still.
The original, however, was: He that number have twisted that into: A man
convinced against his will is of the same opinion still. The original meant that a man who was convinced could possibly remain of the same opinion
for if he was of the same opinion he would not be convinced.

Theodore Roosevelt publicly declared that Washington in his farewell
address said: To be prepared for war
is the most effective means to promote peace. But the first President said
nothing of the sort in his farewell
address. In his first message to Congress he said: To be prepared for war
is one of the most effective means of
preserving peace, and he spoke of objects of arms as well.

Novellists do not seem to be very strong in their knowledge of the Bible. The first President said: How the Lord is with me. Sir Walter Scott, in "The Heart of Midlothian,"
attempts to point a moral with the words: One simple and unadorned
heroine had the merit of those peace-
makers to whom it is promised as a benefaction that they shall inherit the earth. The fact is that the peace-
makers did not receive any such promise, and it is said that the meek shall inherit the earth.

ONTARIO WOOD SUPPLIES
Light Thrown on Forest and Trade
Conditions by New Government Bulletin.

Over 1300 wood-using industries in Ontario contributed the data for a bulletin on this subject, the first being issued by the Forestry Branch, Ottawa.
Thirty four different kinds of wood
are being used by these industries,
and the detailed information regarding
the various uses to which such woods are put, some of which are of considerable value not only to the manufacturer by showing new means of waste
recovery, but also to the householder
by indicating what native woods are best fitted to replace the more expensive imported stock, for interior decoration, furniture and flooring.

The bulletin also shows incidentally
the increasing poverty of Ontario
with regard to the more valuable work
woods. Almost half of the thirty-
four kinds of wood are obtained
principally from outside sources and
three and one half million dollars are annually sent out of the province for imported wood stock. The imported oak alone costs one million six hundred thousand dollars annually for
this tree has become commercially
extinct in Ontario while the hickory
and chestnut groves of southern Ontario have also, almost entirely disappeared. Even good clear white pine is becoming scarce, and its market value is steadily rising. It represents twenty one per cent
more of the total wood consumed in Ontario for industrial purposes.

Of more interest to the small consumer is the fact that the bulletin
lights the bulletin throws on the possibility of substituting cheap home
grown woods for the expensive imported species now used so extensively.
Recent tests made of their physical properties have demonstrated the suitability for certain purposes of many native species, hitherto despised by the dealers. For hardwood flooring
in place of the oak and maple now
in general use, may be substituted the
white pine, the white birch, the white
oak, a high polish and have the advantage of being considerably cheaper than the imported material.

The expensive oak can be very closely imitated by stained black ash and
stained birch is almost indistinguish-
able from mahogany, while stained
red gum requires an expert to distinguish it from the costly Grosvenor
walnut. The new expensive white pine is being replaced, where durability
is not a requisite, by cheaper spruce, basswood and elm. Poplar
and balsam fir are two of the most common woods in Ontario, and they have wider uses is evident from the fact that poplar is highly valued
for interior flooring. In Manitoba
white balsam fir is perhaps the most widely used native species in the provinces.

The bulletin also indicates the existence of a market in Ontario for the products of the forest. The importance of the lumber trade is evident from the fact that the value of
lumber cut from them being worth $30, $46.50, and $44.50 per thousand board feet respectively. The Forestry Branch has already been instrumental in securing sales of the products of the forest to the public
and is desirous of further serving the public along these lines. The bulletin
is a valuable source of information
of the products of the forest of Ontario can be had gratis from the Forestry Branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or from the Forestry
Branch dealing with the Maritime Provinces
will appear shortly.

Novel Musketry Practice
A report comes from Vienna of the utilization of the cinematograph for instruction in musketry. The firing
of a gun is shown on a cinematograph
screen, and a moving colored
picture of the battlefield is thrown on the wall in front of the spectators.
Each man has to pick up his target, take aim and fire. When a shot is fired the film
is changed, and the hole made
by the bullet in the screen is illuminated by a flashlight behind it, thus showing the position of the hit with reference to the target.

Pa, what is meant by idle curiosity?

A Sure Remedy
The story is told that when M.

Free Republic, first entered the political arena, one of his political opponents
taunted him with his youthfulness.

Polkachev replied, but I promise you that something shall be done every day to Correcting the Answer

At a horse-stealing trial out west a jury was gathered and shut up in a room after a brief trial, and when an hour had gone by a mob burst in and unmercifully demanded what the verdict was.

Not guilty, said the foreman.
That won't do, said the leader of the mob. "You why not say
to better than that. And he shut
the jury up again.

In haste the door was opened
and the jury was told to go out.
Well, gentlemen, your verdict, said the leader.

Guilty, the foreman replied.
There were hurrah from the crowd
and the jury was told to go out.

Correct. You can go now.
We strung him up an hour ago.

Potatoes and Power
One foresees the triumph of the potato, unforeseen by William Cobbett,
one so much as a food, but as a means of action. Coal is giving out; petrol is going up in price and down in production. The supply of both a limited asset must come to an end, but there comes the cheer that alcohol
will be the motive force of the future.
Petrol and coal may give out, but the oil will always grow potatoes. Potatoes can produce alcohol, and alcohol can drive engines. In the potato we seem to have discovered the secret of perpetual motion.

Good Advice
A young lawyer who has recently
hired out his shingle here, was residing in a room with $5 and a very poor defense.

Well, you got a case, son, said his

And what advice did you give your

After listening to his story I col-

vised him to retain a more experi-

Langford to Fight J. Johnson

Bozton, Aug. 30.—Sam Langford, negro heavy weight, is to meet Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion of the world, in a bout for the title, in Paris, December 20. Arrangements for the match were completed by cable yesterday, according to Joe Woodman, manager of Langford.

The bout is to be for 20 rounds and will be staged in the Cirque de Paris, under the direction of Theodoros Vissio. Langford is guaranteed a jump sum and a percentage of the receipts for his appearance. Woodman says.

The Boston heavyweight was defeated by Johnson seven years ago and has been seeking a bout with the champion ever since. Johnson's reported need of money, and the fact that proposed bouts with white men in Paris and London have been frowned upon, are the reasons, in Woodman's opinion, that resulted in the match being made.

Oddfellows Go

To Minneapolis

The Oddfellows of Calgary will send a strong contingent of delegates to the big convention to be held at Minneapolis this month. Members of the Cantons will compete for the prizes and already they are practicing to bring back to Calgary as many of the honors as possible. A special train which will carry the delegates of Alberta, including Calgary and Edmonton, will leave Calgary on Friday, September 12, and it is expected that between 40 and 50 Oddfellows from Calgary will take in the trip.

The Blairmore school is now about taxed to its fullest to accommodate the increased number of pupils, and lack of accommodations made it necessary to refuse the enrollment of several Frank children who desired to take advantage of the present term.

Messrs. King, Ede, Putnam and Harris treated themselves to a ride on the merry-go-round on Monday, and claim the "treat" to be exhilarating, pleasant and rectifying to the nervous system. They say "the more the merrier,"—two horses are better than one—if it was "a horse" on the merry-go-round.

Negotiations are still on between the residents of Frank and the government for the re-opening of the Frank public school. The situation as it stands at present is regrettable and is reeking hardship upon people whose luck it has been to become financially interested in the slide town, and it is earnestly hoped that arrangements will soon be reached whereby the school may be re-opened and teaching resumed.

A wrestling tournament was held in the opera house on Wednesday night, the principal feature being the undertaking of Jack Taylor, who claims to be the champion heavyweight of Canada, to throw six local men in one hour.

The first victim was Ollie Olsen, the big Swede, whose shoulders were put to the test in 23 minutes. Jean Forneaux, of Frank, came next and put up a good exhibition for 8.15 minutes. "Dan" came third and stood the strain for exactly 6 minutes. Taylor is not by any means a heavy man, but is well skilled in the knack of wrestling. A special feature in connection with the tournament was a wrestling exhibition between Rita Taylor and Ada Lorraine, the only two ladies following the wrestling profession in Canada.

While Sentinel, or what will soon be Lake City, produces little, if anything, in the agricultural line, it is already a point of considerable activity and will soon be counted as one of the most productive points in Southern Alberta.—Sentinel Correspondent to Lethbridge Herald.

Suicides Will Be Fined, Says Poster

Paris, Sept. 3.—Close to the old Breton town of Fougeres is a pond beside which is a signpost setting forth in large letters that, by order of the local authorities, "all persons drowning themselves in the pond will be heavily fined."

During the past few months, quite a number of persons tired of life, have ended their lives in the placid waters of the little lake, moved no doubt by the spirit of imitation so frequently found in persons of unbalanced mind. A woman dwelling on the bank conceived the idea two months ago of putting up the notice in question and the instinct of obedience to the behests of authority is so deep seated in the French mind that no suicides have occurred in the pond since.

Lake City Project

At the foot of Crows' Nest Lake, which has been for some time the annual camping ground of the Lethbridge branch of the Y.M.C.A., T. P. Cyr a H. J. Matheson are laying out a townsite to be known as Lake City, and hope to make a summer resort of it for the benefit of the people living on the Crows' Nest railway.

A. J. McGuire, a mining man well known in Alberta, has acquired a large body of coal land here and is busy doing development work upon it. He has already uncovered six seams varying in thickness from six to ten feet and which have been traced on the surface a distance of four miles. The coal is very clean and is what is known as a semi-anthracite or a very superior quality of bituminous as the following analysis will show that was taken at a depth of 20 feet from the surface: 81.27 fixed carbon, 89.68 volatile, 95 moisture, 8.10 ash, made by the Rocky Mountain Cement company. The lay of the ground is such that a depth of over 1000 feet above the water level is easily obtainable. This coal property will no doubt soon become a shipper, and a large factor in the coal industry in Alberta, and furnish employment to a large number of miners.

Harry Matheson is developing a coal property about one half mile from the station and has two seams of clean bituminous steam and cooking coal.

Mr. Johnston, of Medicine Hat, has secured land at the head of the lake and is busy preparing for the opening of large lime quarries there. The limestone is to be shipped to Medicine Hat to be burnt by the gas producers.

At the head of the lake surveyors are busy laying out the slide tracks and sites for the large crushing plant and storage bins for the Dunmore Cement company, whose four thousand barrel plant is now being finished at Medicine Hat. Their storage bins will have room for storing 1200 tons of crushed rock. The crushing plant will have a capacity for crushing fifteen hundred tons of rock per day. To handle the cars in company it will require some four thousand feet of slide tracks. To keep their plant in Medicine Hat running, it will require them to quarry and crush in their plant here one thousand tons of cement rock each day in the year. To do this will give steady employment to over one hundred men. It will require two extra train crews and two solid trains per day between this point and Medicine Hat.

Sewer pipe clay is found here at the foot of the lake in quantities and the two carloads sent to the Medicine Hat Clay Products company have proved very satisfactory to the shippers.

There is a good site available at the foot of the lake near the millroad for a cement plant, as all the material required, cement rock, clays, shales and water power, lies within a radius of half a mile.

Proposing to supply the various mines in The Pass and on the prairie will commence next month and employ quite a number of men in the timber. Some fifty thousand men are being sent out of here annually.

While Sentinel, or what will soon be Lake City, produces little, if anything, in the agricultural line, it is already a point of considerable activity and will soon be counted as one of the most productive points in Southern Alberta.—Sentinel Correspondent to Lethbridge Herald.

Bellevue Happenings

J. James is building a new house at Maple Leaf.

Mr. Coates is building a log house at the dairy ranch.

Mrs. Tully, of Maple Leaf, went up to Fernie on Friday evening.

A large number of the local "Owls" took in the sports at Co's-man on Monday.

Mrs. Irwin entertained Mrs. Davidson's sewing class at a party on Wednesday evening last.

Albert Padgett, Fred Padgett, Arnold Varley and Wilfred Campbell formed a fishing party at the South Fork on Sunday and Monday.

Messrs. McCulloch and Tully, of Maple Leaf, and Mr. Tully, of Fernie, left on Saturday morning on a two days' fishing excursion to the North Fork.

Mrs. Frank Roselev, who underwent an operation in the local hospital recently, has recovered sufficiently to be removed to her home on Tuesday.

Mr. Wycherly, pastor of the Passburg Presbyterian church, preached very acceptably at Bellevue on Sunday night. Mr. Irwin preached at Passburg.

Quite a number of Bellevue people took in the Sanatorium ball on Monday evening. Among them were J. Walters, Clem Stubbs, Mrs. W. J. Cole and Mrs. Edward Campbell.

The Rev. A. C. Tate, who has been conducting Anglican services here, has been moved to Langdon, where he assumes his new work next Sunday. There will be no further Anglican service here until further notice. Mr. Tate has made many friends here, who will regret his departure.

The teaching staff of the Bellevue school are in the camp and ready to commence work. The new school building will probably be ready by next Monday, and Principal Kelly is tickled over the prospect of having such a splendid equipment as the new building affords. The present school board deserve every commendation upon the way in which they have revolutionized the educational affairs of the camp. The teaching staff this term will consist of Arthur J. Kelly, principal, Miss Bradley, Miss Scott and Miss Boyce. The two latter are new additions to the staff, Miss Scott having just arrived from New Brunswick and Miss Boyce coming from Pincher Creek.

The scholars and officials of the Methodist Sunday school, accompanied by their parents and friends, enjoyed a very pleasant outing on Labor Day at Goodwin's ranch. The weather conditions were almost ideal and nothing occurred to mar the continuous pleasure of the day.

A series of games and contests of a unique character were indulged in by old and young alike. Through the kindness of bandmaster Goodwin, the band dispensed music throughout the day which added greatly to the enjoyment. Among the unique games was a disconcerting contest for girls, which was won by Olive Goodwin, Winnie Dicken and Florie Hallworth; "diving for shoes apples," for boys, won by Dick Shone and Willie Goodwin. The baby show was won by Ruby Cousins, the year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cousins.

CAUGHT A BAD COLD

We bought just one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that one bottle stopped his cough and cured his cold completely." For sale by all dealers.
